FIRST IN A SHEEPSHEAD BAY RACE.

THE CONEY ISLAND JOCKEY CLUB'S FINE PRO-GRAMME-A SERIES OF LIVELY CONTESTS.

The heat was nerve-rending in the city at 1 o'clock esterday. But the fortunate thousands who went to the races of the Coney Island Jockey Club at Sheepshead Bay exulted and rejoiced in the deliciously fresh, strong, cool ocean breezes which swept over the grounds and through the buildings. seething New-Yorkers had known beyond peradventure that so enjoyable a place of refuge, with so delightful a temperature, was so near at hand, the attendance at the track would have been multiplied by ten. But it was an excellent gathering of large numbers which assembled at the course. A riter for an evening newspaper expressed the benot that the array of speciators was small. could be have spent his time? If he had gone igh the buildings with his eyes open, and had looked over the lawn with clear vision, and had examined the throng in the betting-ring and elsewhere within the gates, he must have been coned that the gate receipts were large and the collection of human beings that saw the contests of the afternoon was extensive. The programme was full of striking features, and the battles of the thoroughbreds were of uncommon merit.

Leon Stedeker, the defaulting bookmaker, who ran away from the track of the Brooklyn Jockey Club on the opening day this season, leaving many tickets unpaid, was arrested at Washington Park, Chicago, on Monday, and was held in order to find out whether he was "wanted" in the East. But, as no charges were made against him, he was released yesterday. Robert Pinkerton received dispatches m Chicago which gave him this information. of the telegrams which Mr. Pinkerton received said that Stedeker had declared that he would return to New-York and pay all claims against him. But has Steleker the money to pay these claims? That is extremely doubtful. stewards have decided that there was no

ound for believing that McDermott was guilty of dishonesty in his riding of Ducat on Monday, and have exonerated him. But their action in questioning him has had a good effect. Too few stions have been asked as a rule by stewards and other racing officials in the East. If our rac-ing officials would put through a searching inquiry after every race in which anything occurs which has an unpleasant look, they would increase the popularity of racing tenfold. It is most singular that racing officials rarely appear to realize so plain and even obtrusive a truth. Every jockey club must depend for its prosperity upon its popularity, just as every theatre and every opera ise must. If an operatic or theatrical manager does not attempt to please and gratify the seekers of amusement, he will soon go into bankruptcy. Now the one overwhelming, insistent, universal and intense desire of Americans who take any interest in racing is that all dishonesty and unfairness be eliminated from the sport. Americans do not enjoy being cheated. They are too sensible and too practical for that. And Americans would prefer at any time to see a fairly fought and honestly conducted contest between the worst horses in training than to watch a race between an Ormonde and a Hindoo if they thought there was anything crooked in the Ormonde-Hindoo affair. Yet the managers of American racetracks have usually considered it far more important to bring about races among well-known horses and to secure large fields than to remove every element of suspicion from the sport. Any jockey club which will make a reputation for itself for the utmost rigor and severity toward all owners, trainers and jockeys who wander from the straight and narrow path of honesty on the turf, acquire a prodigious popularity, and its profits will be enormous. It is the most puzzling thing about racing that the managers of racetracks almost always shut their eyes to this conspicuous and impressive verity. In the West there is far more questioning than there is in the East, and penalties are inflicted with far more freedom and in a far greater number cases than in the East. Many years ago J. G. K. Lawrence, now president of the Coney Island Jockey Club, was presiding judge at Monmouth Park. "Sam" Bryant was guilty of a glaring fraud with the horse Big Medicine. Mr. Lawrence and his colleagues promptly, properly and justly ruled Bryant off the turf. That action was most ruled Bryant off the turf. That action was most judicious, sagacious and wise, and it had a marked effect for some time. Bryant fully deserved his punishment, and the ruling-off alarmed a horde of turf rascals, who were more cautious and timid in their nefarious operations for many a day afterward. Bryant was restored to the turf subequently upon promises of amendment and reform. But the wholesome severity practised by Mr. Lawrence and his colleagues had a most salutary ef

The Eastern jockey clubs ought to have followed case at Monmouth Park. If more questions had been asked, if more inquiries had been made, if more investigations had been set on foot and carried through with energy, and if the proper penalties had been applied in more cases in which ought to have been applied, the New-Jersey racetracks would not be closed to-day. oney Island Jockey Club meeting may not stop their questions in the McDermott case, but may Coney Island Jockey Club meeting may not stop their questions in the McDermott case, but may continue to ask a great many questions whenever more light seems to be needed in any race, lin that way they can do a great deal to elevate the standard of racing and to increase the popularity and success of the turf.

Garrison was at the track, having returned from Chicago. He said to a member of The Tribune staff that before the American Derby was run he felt sure that Senator Grady would defeat Domino and Dorian, and that he was not surprised that neither Domino nor Dorian got a place. He was, of course, greatly amazed that Rey El Santa Anita could defeat Senator Grady so easily and by so many lengths, but he feels certain that "Lucky" Baidwin's colt has improved immensely since last year, and is now a racehorse of high class. He expects that Rey El Santa Anita will be sent East to run against the Eastern colts in a few days. Garrison Confirms the statement telegraphed from Chicago that Domino hit himself in the race and lamed himself severely, but he does not think that Domino was full of discomfort, as the temperature in the car was 98 degrees for a part of the time. He is glad to be back in New-York. He says that Mathew Byrnes will bring Senator Grady and the other horses belonging to Marcus Daly back to the Cater was 93 degrees for a part of the time. He is glad to be back in New-York He says that Mathew Byrnes will bring Senator Grady and the other horses belonging to Marcus Daly back to the Cater was 93 degrees for a part of the time. He is glad to be back in New-York He says that Mathew Byrnes will bring Senator Grady and the imported coit Matt Byrnes, by Hampton out of Cherry, will probably run in the rich Realization Stakes at a mile and five furlongs at Shepshade Bay on Saturday of next week. Garrison will ride Senator Grady, who will carry 122 pounds. Matt Byrnes will carry 122 pounds. Matt Byrnes will carry 122 nounds. Matt Byrnes will carry 122 nounds in the Realization. The Keene stable has Hornpipe in

I was expected by Garrison to leave Chicago ight. Taral said before he left New-York in high per hour away from New-York in the least of the left new-York in the least of the left new-York in the least of Cook y. He is greatly missed in the East, where constantly in urgent demand, but he was led in Chicago to ride the Keene filly Roundesterday.

he is constantly in urrent demand, but he was detained in Chicago to ride the Keene filly Roundelay yesterday.

The Keene colt Hyderabad, by Hyder Ali-Glorianna, ran in the Swift Stakes at seven furlongs at Sheepshead Bay yesterday. Last year Hyderabad ran some brilliant races, but he suffered a had fall in the Futurity, which wis won by Domino. He was out for the first time this year yesterday, and was ridden by Thompson, as Taral was in Chicago. The betting rose to, 8 to 1 against him, and he falled to get a place, showing pone of his remarkaole speed of 1830. The Keene stable has had a great deal of ill fortune this season, and is not nearly so formidable as, it was, a year ago. The favorite in the Swift Stakes was Discount, ridden by Sims, and after a sharp struggle with Potentate. Discount won with something to spare at the end. Peacemaker secured third place. Lazzarone was withdrawn. He is of so high class that if he had started he would probably have won the race, although his weight was 120 pounds, while Discount, Potentate and some others had only 107 pounds to carry. Armitage was also withdrawn. Fourteen entries made up the original field in Discount, Potentate and some others had only it pounds to carry. Armitage was also withdrawn. Fourteen entries made up the original field it the first race, but eight were taken out, leaving six to run. Lamplighter was made the favorite a odds on. Poor old Kingston, now in the sere any yellow leaf, had many supporters, but was a $\frac{1}{2}$ to 1 and even 7 to 1. Lamplighter won with several pounds in hand, while Merry Monarch defeated Kingston for second place. But, although feated Kingston for second place. But, although several pounds in hand, while Merry Monarch defeated Kingston for second place. But, although several pounds in hand, while Merry Monarch defeated Kingston for second place. But, although several pounds in hand, while merry Monarch described without any advantage in the weights. Ajux may do better at a later day, but most of his races this year have been of the selling-plate order. Nevertheless this is the same Ajax that defeated some of the fastest horses in training most lazilingly lass season. Lustre was, ridden by dumbrous and bungling Snedeker. So, of course, the had no chance to be even third with that boy in her back.

stewards concerning his riding of the Madison Stable's beautiful filly Sweden in the third race, which was for two-year-old filles, at five furiongs. Sweden was a well-backed second choice, while Appliause, with Sims up, was the favorite. Sweden got away well and held a good position until she swerved to the rail farthest from the spectators. She did not hit the rail hard and did not injure herself or her jockey with the least little scratch. She still had a chance in the race, but Doggett, one of the most hot-tempered jockeys who ever sat on a horse, was so vexed by her swerving that he pulled her up, made no further effort with her, and merely cantered her home. It was his plain, olvious and urgent duty to try to win with her, even after her swerve, as neither he nor the filly was injured. That was the view of the matter taken by Sweden's owner. Edward Keliy, one of the Mockey Club. It would have been well if the stewards had given Doggett a sharp lecture, and told him forcibly that he must not give up trying to win in any race until all possibility of a chance has vanished entirely.

If Taral could have been on Sweden she would not probably have succeeded in swerving, and if she had swerved, he would probably have sent her home the winner of the race in spite of her swerving.

But there is only one Taral,

The stewards could not possibly employ their time better than in giving frequent, pointed and emphatic warnings and admonitions to the jockeys to avoid fouling more carefully, to be sufficiently alert not to get left at the post and never to give up trying until the last vestige of hope of getting even third place has disappeared.

Michael F. Dwyer backed Applause, But Applause is so nervous and excitable that she wears herself out at the post before the race is begun. She did this yesterday and was nowhere near third place, at the end. Sabilla carried 125 pounds, and was conceiling seven pounds to Applause, and ten pounds to each of the other filles. She displayed great gameness. Hamilton flogged her for more than a furiong, and under the whip she did her best. Outstaving the others in this drive, she won the race by a considerable space at the end, with Leigh & Rose's handsome filly Urania, by Hanover out of Wanda, second, and Lux, the property of Leigh & Rose's handsome filly Urania, by Hanover out of Wanda, second, and Lux, the property of W. O. R. Macdonough, of California (the owner of Ormonde), in third place.

Michael F. Dwyer took Banquet out of the Sheepshead Bay Handicap and started Don Alonzo in his place. Banquet had been handicapped at 124 pounds and the Don at 122. If Banquet had run he would certainly have been at a short price, after his excellent performance in the Suburban, in which he ran second. But Don Alonzo was so far behind the placed horses in the Suburban, and ran so poorly, that he was only fourth choice in this race, Roche being the favorite, Kinglet second choice and Sir Waiter third. being the favorite, Kinglet second choice and Sir Waiter third.

Lowlander, winner of the Suburban of 1893, has a vilianous temper this year, and he was left at the post, with unjucky McDermott in the saddle. Prig took the lead, and the field was strung out in straggling order four furiongs. But in the final haif-mile all closed in a bunch, except poor, left Lowlander, and the struggle was stirring to the last stride. Don Alonzo was in good humor this time, and so was his rider. Sims. There was no strangling, ohoking pull in this race, no twisting of the Don's proud Castillan nose to one side, cutting off his breath and taking all the speed out of him. No, indeed, it was most gratifying to note the entire harmony and accord between the Don and his rider. They did not quarrel. There were no hitches or jars. The big horse moved freely and easily, and answered the whip well in the last furions, standing a drive in a way that amazed the people who have made so much fun of him. It has often been said of the Don that he is a good horse among bad ones, but a had horse among good ones. But this time he gave two pounds to Sir Waiter, and conceded weight to the fleet Roche at a mile, and defeated them both. Under whip and spour Don Alonzo won the race by a heck, Roche second, a head before Sir Waiter; Frig fourth, second, a head before Sir Waiter, 1118

Kinglet fifth.

Michael F. Dwyer did not have much confidence horses were off when the commissioner had put on only $500.

Sport, at heavy odds-on, captured the fifth race, in which he was giving away much weight to Herald, George Reck and Klideer. Sport tried to sulk on the backstretch, and again in the homestretch, but Sims forced him along with whip and spur, and he was first by more than a length at the failsh. The favorite, Ballarat, with the heavy weight of 175 pounds in the saddle, got second place to St. John in the mile and a quarrer, over hurdles, which closed an afternoon's sport of especial interest and brilliancy. More than a dozen jumpers scrambled and hopped in this hurdle race, and the spectators watched these leaps and bounds with keen zest. Bishop, the rider of San José, who had a bad fall in the steeplechase on Saturday, is badly injured and in danger, but it is thought that he may, perhaps, recover.

JOHN A. LOGAN'S FINE STUD. HIS HORSES ON DISPLAY YESTERDAY-TO BE

SOLD TO-MORROW AND FRIDAY

The well-known Oriole Stud, the property of John A. Logan, jr., of Youngstown, Ohio, was on show at Durland's Riding Academy, Sixtleth-st. and Boulevard, yesterday. The horses will all be sold to sail's, under the management of W. D. Grand, and they were placed on exhibition yesterday and will be brought into the ring to-day, too, to give intending buyers a chance to know what they will be bidding for when the sale begins. There are in the lot 250 prize-winning imported and native back neys and also high-class harness and saddle horses and tandems, high-stepping single-harness horses, cobs, pole ponies, etc. Mr. Logan himself was on hand and felt a pride in showing twenty-three dif-ferent prizes which he had carried off with as many animals at the recent horse show in Philadelphia. He has 206 ribbons, each one of which represents a money prize. 'I believe," said James T. Hyde, secretary of the National Horse Show Association, "that Mr. Logan country. This crowd you see here is not here for amusement, but for business. The people who amisement, but for business. The people who would come for amisement are all out of town. Mr. Logan has scoured all over England to get the best stock that could be had, and I see he has them here now. He has also been one of the most successful exhibitors in the country.

Among those present were J. B. Haggin, J. B. Dutcher, A. H. Moore, of Philadelphia; Mr. Hastings, of California; Theodore A. Havemeyer, W. L. Eikins, Philadelphia; E. L. Bedford, Richard Williams, Thomas Maitland, Charles Pfizer and Richard Carman. The exhibition will be continued this afternoon and evening.

MODEROCIO WINS LAKESIDE STAKES. ROUNDELAY NOT PLACED-THE OTHER RACES AT

Chicago, June 26.-The Lakeside States, for fillies two-year-olds, with 1,500 added, at five furlongs, was the stake feature at Washington Park to-day. It resulted in a pretty contest, in which Moderock a 20 to 1 shot, won by a scant half-length. The Keenes' handsome filly Roundelay, with Taral up, was made favorite in the betting at 3 to 1, but she finished in the ruck. Lady Diamond, from "Lucky" Haldwin's stable, was supposed to be a good thing, and her price was cut from 8 to 1 down to 4 to 1, but she was left at the post. An even dozen started after a delay of thirty-two minutes. Rosita was first at the flag fall, with Roundelay second and Kitty Scott third. Hosita maintained her advantage around the stable turn and well into the stretch, but at the betting-shed Leigh brought Moderocio up with a rush, and, in a drive she succeeded in out-gaming Rosita, and won by a half-length. The net value of the stake to the

GAMES IN OTHER CITIES.

Chicago, June 26.-Baltimore outbatted Chicago today in another singging competition. McMahon was hit hard at the start, but pitched well during last seven innings and received great support. McGill was also backed up well, but could not hold down the hostile batsmen. Kittredge, Wilmot, Kelley and Brodle made sensational catches and both infields played magnificent ball. Attendance,

Pittsburg, June 26.—The Washingtons lost to-day's game, but not until they attempted a finish which nade "Red" Ehret's heart move faster than the Exposition Park windmin in the gale which prevailed. In the eventful inning, after one man had been retired, a single, a home run, another single, a base on balls and two more singles, netted four runs and put the Senators within a run of tleing the score. HOBART DEFEATS CHACE AND HOVEY. Boston, June 26 (Special).-Dr. James Dwight, the well-known lawn tennis authority, acted as referee in the second day's play of the West Newton tennis tournament this afternoon, and called the score as Clarence Hobart defeated his ancient Newport as Clarence Hobart defeated his ancient Newport rival, F. H. Hovey, in two straight sets. As the New-Yorker had earlier in the day beaten young Malcom Chace, this put him in the lead of the other experts here. Hobart shows good form, and it looks very much as if he meant to have one more try for the Newport championship. The last set of the Hobart-Hovey match was close, Hovey leading on alternate games until five in all were reached, when Hobart ran out the set, 7-5. Hovey was outplayed in the first set, but played stubborn tennis in the second. Scores:

Clarence Hobart beat Malcom Chace 6-2, 4-6, 6-3; Clarence Hobart beat F. H. Hovey 6-2, 7-5. Standing of the players: Clarence Hobart won 2, lost 0; L. H. Hovey won 2, lost 1; A. E. Foote won 1, lost 1; Malcom Chace won 0, lost 2.

ANOTHER TRAIN HELD UP.

SIX MASKED MEN SECURE $1,222 FROM AN EXPRESS CAR IN GEORGIA-PASSENGERS NOT MOLESTED.

Savannah, Ga., June 26.-Train No. 6, of the Savannah, Florida and Western Railway, fr Thomasville, due to arrive here at 7 o'clock this morning, was held up one mile this side of Homerville this morning at 1:50 o'clock by six masked white men. The safe in the express car was robbed of its contents, $1,222 in cash. Two of the men boarded the train at Homer-ville, concealing themselves behind the tender,

As soon as it started they climbed over the tender, covered the engineer and fireman with pistols and told Engineer Jenkins to stop when ordered.

About a mile from Homerville the order given and the train was brought to a standstill. Then the four other masked men joined the party, proceeded to get into the express car. Conductor Farris came out with a trainhand to investigate the cause for stopping, but did not stand on cere-mony when ordered to return to his car.

While two of the men kept watch the other two ordered Express Messenger Caider to open the door. He refused and was then told he had better get out of the car. He heard one of the men lighting a fuse, and before he could reach the corner a dynamite cartridge exploded, breaking the door from its fastenings and stunning the messenger.
When he came to he was looking into the barrel of a pistol and was ordered to throw up his hands. He did not hesitate long, and when told to open

He did not hesitate long, and when told to open the safe he did so, taking the packages out as ordered. The robber then gathered up the money in his arm and went to join his associates. They got on the engine, made the fireman uncouple it from the cars and then compelled both engineer and fireman to leave it.

engine, made the fireman incouple it from the cars and then compelled both engineer and fireman to leave it.

They took the engine and ran up to a point in the woods near Argyle, eleven miles from the scene of the robbery, where they left the engine and took to the woods. As soon as they left the train, word was sent to the officials here, who ordered a freight train to bring up the passenger coaches to their engine.

Ex-sheriff Hurst, of Thomas County, one of the most daring officers in the State, at the head of a posse, reached the scene about four hours later, and, with a pack of hounds from McRae's convict camp, started in pursuit of the robbers, who were thought to have gone off in the direction of Okefenokee Swamp. The officials believe the posse has the right trail, and that the robbers will be captured.

The robbers did not enter the mail car nor any of the passenger coaches, their only apparent object being to secure the money in the express car. The passengers were considerably alarmed for the time being, but no one was hurt. The train arrived in Savannah at 11:32 o'clock, this morning, about four hours late.

ALMOST A DOUBLE MURDER.

WHILE SUFFERING FROM THE EFFECTS OF SUR-STROKE JOSEPH WHITSETT TRIES TO KILL HIS WIFE AND DAUGHTER.

Vineland, N. J., June 26.-Joseph Whitsett, an Irishman, while temporarily insane this evening, tried to murder his wife and daughter and incinerate himself. Whitsett has been laboring under mental troubles for some time. The heat of the last few weeks has affected him, and for several days he has gerous and no attention was paid to him.

This afternoon Whitsett quarrelled with his wife and daughter, and chased them out of the house working in a field across the road saw the trio, but did not interfere until they heard Mrs. Whitsett cry,

"My God, are those men going to stand by and see us murdered!" They then rushed over, but before they arrived Whitsett threw his daughter on the ound and cut her throat in a horrible manner, ne garl is fatally injured.

Whitsett then turned to his wife and beat her terribly with the file. Seeing the men approaching, he ran into the house, looked the doors and set fire to the building. The firemen got him out before the fames reached him, but he begged them to throw him back into the flames. The house was destroyed.

Whitsett's son Alfred says his father has been insane for several weeks, and seemed to have a grudge against his daughter. A week ago. Alfred said, his father threw kerosene over her and then set fire to her dress, but her mother put out the flames.

Miss Whitsett was a teacher in one of the public schools and a good-looking young woman. Mrs.
Whitsett will probably live, although the amount of blood she lost will leave her very weak for a long time.

Whitsett raged when locked up. He wanted to be allowed to kill himself. He still believes he killed both wife and daughter, and thinks they are dead and burned up.
